c. Improvement in Student Enrolment, Attendance Management, and Retention Rates

KPI 4: Lesson Planning and Student Assessment System

a. Annual Scheme of Studies (Not Applicable for RFP 1)

The Annual Scheme of Studies (SOS) was created for all schools and presented to the Independent Expert (TRC) on 30 Nov 2024. The SOS was created with assistance from an Education Expert and developed using government-provided textbooks and planning directives. The SOS was arranged by class and by subject. It contains a schedule, a single-session lesson outline, and chapter allocation. Every chapter is clarified through various activities. In the SOS, the Education Expert has provided teachers with comprehensive teaching strategies for every chapter.

The EMO has created a monitoring form that is currently under review by the coordinators and the Head Master (HM) of the school. The observation form was created in partnership with the Education Expert, the Compliance Officer, and the Project Director.

b. Lesson Planning

The teachers themselves create the lesson plans. The teachers assigned by the EMO developed and executed the lesson plans. Nonetheless, there has been push-back from the government teachers especially male teachers concerning the development and execution of lesson plans.. A breakdown of the syllabus was given to all teachers, organized by class and subject. The teachers create lesson plans weekly, which are reviewed by the coordinators and HM for compliance with the SOS, syllabus breakdown, and daily diary.

Most government teachers have shown reluctance to prepare and execute lesson plans. To address this issue, a training session was organized to inform all teachers about the significance of lesson planning and instruct them on how to create lesson plans. As a result, the teachers designated by the EMO have been developing and executing the lesson plans, yet the government male teachers and some school teachers continue to hesitate in adopting this approach. To tackle this problem, the EMO intends to organize additional training sessions for all educators to help them implement this practice

c. Formative Assessments (In-House)

Formative assessment takes place twice during a session. In the prior quarter, the evaluation was carried out according to the academic calendar, while the second one takes place in the last week of February. Typically, after finishing each chapter, a test is administered by all the teachers.
